

Yihong SUN, M.D., Ph.D., FRCS

Dr. Sun is a general surgeon and an outstanding expert in GI surgery. He is well known and acknowledged as one of leading surgeons in China, because of his pioneering works in the multidisciplinary treatment of GI cancer (especially gastric cancer) in China, extensive clinical training for GI surgery, and active involvements in international and Chinese clinical trials.

Dr. Sun is a professor of Shanghai Medical School of Fudan University, takes the chair of vice president of Zhongshan Hospital of Fudan University, and Chief of Department of General Surgery in Zhongshan Hospital.

Dr. Sun currently holds some memberships of internationally and domestically professional societies. He is a fellow of the Royal College of Surgeons of England (FRCS), the member of Society of American Gastrointestinal and Endoscopic Surgeon (SAGES), and serves as the secretary of Gastrointestinal Surgery Committee of Chinese Medical Science Academy, the associate president of China Endoscopic Gastric Cancer Clinical Research Collaboration Group, the president of Gastrointestinal Surgery Committee of Shanghai Medical Science Academy, and associate president of Minimally Invasive Surgery Committee of Shanghai Medical Science Academy.